learned.

Some of what I am saying, especially the part about written assurance, may seem offensively rude. I do not mean to be rude. I am not insinuating that any of you is responsible for the Hirsch story or any other story. But no room can be left for any misunderstanding upon this point and I cannot forget that you chose to make a statement about the substance of the case last Thursday after I had explicitly disapproved.

Will each of you please advise me in writing whether you wish to continue working on the case on the above basis.
I hope that you will continue to perform this public service - at least until my staff and I have mastered the case. But there is no room for conditions or limitations.
